Downgrading of detachment protested

Citizens ready to fight to retain OPP

by Jerry Grozelle

At least a few citizens of the Minden area aren't going to take the amalgamation of the Minden and Coboconk OPP detachments and transfer of administration to Coboconk without a fight.

Al Mayo and Garth Kellett have been lobbying Haliburton County municipalities for support in their quest to restore full OPP service to Minden.

The two men attended the Anson, Hindon and Minden council meeting Thursday evening, asking council for official support by passing a resolution opposing the move.

Mayo explained that obtaining municipal support was the first step on the way to getting county council involved.

"We want to get municipal support first," Mayo said. "It will add that much more strength at county council."

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon told Mayo and Kellett that council has been fighting to keep full OPP services in Minden.

"We offered space for the OPP; we have met with Chris Hodgson; and we have been corresponding with the Solicitor General," she said.

"We have been assured that Haliburton County will not be left without an OPP detachment. We have taken a very aggressive approach."

"If we don't fight for it (the OPP station in Minden), it will simply go," Mayo said. "We don't want Minden to become a ghost town."

Mayo added that local police services are essential to businesses, security of the residents and visitors as well as the prosperity of the area.

"How are we going to attract people here without police or hospital services," Mayo said. "I don't think the county is fully aware of the situation."

Mayo said that he read in The Echo in February that "there's no problem, they (the OPP) are going to stay. Now the administration is already gone. It's all been a snow job."

Anthon was adamant that the municipality hasn't given up.

"We're very intent on keeping the OPP here," she said, adding that if Mayo or Kellett had any new ideas, council would be happy to hear them.

"We'll be happy to offer our support," she said.

Clerk-Treasurer Tammy McKelvey drafted a resolution, which was unanimously passed by council. The resolution read: "Whereas the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden have attempted to nego-

Quonset quandary worries Fair Board officials

by Jerry Grozelle

The Quonset quandary continues.

Ron Cox and Geoff Robinson, representing the Minden Fair Board, appeared before Anson, Hindon and Minden council Thursday evening regarding the Quonset building on the fairgrounds and the lawn bowling building. Both have been declared structurally unsafe.

The Fair Board representatives are concerned that the building won't be available in time to be used to house animals during this year's Haliburton County Fair.

"It wouldn't be much of a fair without the animals," Councillor Sinc Nesbitt admitted.

"I assume you have an engineer's report that says it's unsafe," Robinson said. "If you were to get a second engineer's report stating that it's safe, would you reopen it?"

Reeve Jeanne Anthon explained that it isn't that easy, but that the municipality is pursuing the matter in hopes of resolving the situation before the fair weekend.

Robinson pointed out that the Fair Board's agreement with the municipality states that the municipality is required to maintain the structure. (Both the structures are used during the Fair.)

"We require a building," Robinson stated.

Arrangements have already been made to use the new curling rink building for exhibits normally shown in the old curling club. The Fair Board will be paying $1,100 for its use, an expense for which the board hasn't budgeted.

Robinson said the reason the buildings have been declared unsafe is a rift between personnel from the original engineering firm.

"There are two engineers fighting against each other and the municipality and the Fair Board are stuck in the middle," he said. "I'm afraid we're going to be waiting while two engineering companies fight it out."

"The community is at great inconvenience," Anthon said. "We're putting on as much pressure as possible to speed the process up."

Robinson pointed out that the company the building was purchased from should be responsible for repairing it.

The problem was discussed in closed session after the regular council meeting and action has been taken by council. Since there is a potential for legal action, details are not public.

Councillor Daryl Moore confirmed that as a result of council's decision, it will be known within 10 days to two weeks what course of action will take place.

"We'll know by then whether it can be repaired and reopened or whether it will have to remain closed," he said.

The Fair Quonset was built four or five years ago, while the Lawn Bowling Club Quonset is about 30 years old. The latter was declared unsafe for winter use almost 20 years ago.

Since the lawn bowling facility is no longer available to the club, Cox asked if council would give permission to carry out repairs to a storage building at the site so equipment can be stored securely until another home can be found for the club.

Chamber mounts campaign in support of coordinator

by Andrew Milne

Controversy is brewing around the dismissal of the Haliburton County Development Corporation's community economic development coordinator.

Chamber of Commerce members were asked last week to write letters to the Corporation requesting that Brown be kept on, and the Chamber's president says Brown is appealing the decision.

Brown was unavailable for comment when called last week.

The corporation decided in a June 13 meeting, not to renew Brown's contract. The contract expires at the end of July.

Board members haven't been particularly specific about reasons for the decision, but refer to a process of 'restructuring' within the corporation.

Chamber president Connie Simms wrote the letter asking for Chamber members' support. Simms says the Chamber was somewhat upset that they were neither consulted nor informed about the decision that was being made.

Says Simms, "That's why we were upset. We're trying to get on the agenda of their next meeting. Mr. Brown is appealing his dismissal. He has two weeks to do that, and I know he's done it. We've also sent a letter to Ken Wilson, who's chairman of the committee, but as of yet we haven't heard anything."

The decision seemed to have been made with some haste. Some members of the board say they were only told about the meeting at which the decision was made, a few days before it was called.

Board of director members aren't, however, being particularly forthcoming in explaining the decision.

Says chair Ken Wilson, "I guess the (community economic development) committee just decided it no longer required his services, and they chose not to renew the contract."

Community economic development committee chair Andy Salvatori says the decision was not made with any urgency, and that the decision was formally made by the corporation, not his committee.

Salvatori would not comment on whether the decision was made because of something specific to Brown or because it no longer had a need for the position.

Both Brown and the corporation were required to give 30 days' notice to terminate the contract.

Brown is no longer working at the Corporation's Haliburton office.

Brown has worked with the Chamber on a number of projects recently, and was appointed to its board, representing the Haliburton County Community Futures Committee. That committee has since been absorbed into the development corporation.

A Chamber member who received the letter said she was sympathetic, but didn't believe she would be writing in support.

She said, "Brown was good to have around. He didn't get along with everyone, but he got the job done... But I don't think I'll be writing that letter. I think there are a few people who won't be writing that letter. You know why? Because the development corporation holds my mortgage."

Brown was originally hired by the Haliburton County Community Futures Committee, a group funded under the federal Community Futures program. That committee was amalgamated last fall with the Development Corporation when the federal government took the position it would no longer run two bodies with similar purposes in the same region. The members of the former Futures committee were then reorganized as the Community Economic Development Committee — chaired by Salvatori — within the corporation.

Salvatori and Wilson say they have not yet decided how or if they will replace Brown.

A giant statue in Minden's future?

by Andrew Milne

A giant carved statue of Paul Bunyan and Babe the Blue Ox on main street?

Just maybe.

Orchestrating such a project — as a tourist attraction and a totem by which to identify Minden — was just one of a number of ideas floated at a recent meeting held by the Minden community economic development committee.

Most of the committee's business, however, in last week's brainstorming session, ran to the more practical and pedestrian, as around 35 businesspeople and other stakeholders from the Minden area mulled over how they might attract more business to the community, and how they might make the business climate more attractive for those still here.

The committee had invited volunteers to discuss a number of ideas brought forward from the community, to suggest additional ideas, and to prioritize them.

The carved statue idea came out of the blue — if the reader will forgive the term — during a discussion emphasizing the importance of woodcarvers and other timber workers to the area. Suggested by Minden art gallery owner Paul Hopkins, Paul and Babe was a standout novelty idea, in a discussion suggesting ideas such as:

- the creation of a single, all-encompassing forum in which business interests could meet and discuss the future;
- the construction of a band shell;

■ the construction of new signs welcoming visitors to the community (this project is now in progress);

■ the provision of such incentives as a zoned industrial park, complete with the necessary services, and tax breaks to businesses interested in investing in the area;

■ the utilization of talent within the county — including investors, retired individuals, and others not in the work force — to direct the economic future of the region;

■ the broadcasting of a low-power TV signal advertising community events and attractions;

■ and the encouragement of projects involving Minden and Haliburton, or Minden and Carnarvon, to encourage wider business links and foster development.

The committee has been in place approximately three months. It was struck to encourage development in the area by interested business owners and others who believe there is potential for development here that hasn't been used.

Interim chair Larry Hodgson is among those enthusiastic about the possibilities. Hodgson is a former city of Toronto planner, who has participated in community economic development projects in urban neighbourhoods.

Says Hodgson, "I believe that Minden has some of the greatest potential for development anywhere, simply because it hasn't been done... We have hundreds of resources. It's just a lack of a coordinating effort."

The committee emphasizes that anyone is welcome at their meetings, and particularly encourages that business owners come forward and get involved.

Gala night for Lions as Minden club marks ten years

It was a gala night of congratulations and appreciation, June 22, as members of area Lions clubs gathered at the Minden Community Centre.

Over 100 Lions and Lionesses from throughout the zone were in attendance to help mark the Minden and District Lions Club's tenth anniversary and participate in the installation of officers for the coming year. The evening was made even more special by the presence of past Lions International president, Judge Brian Stevenson of Calgary.

"The Minden and District Lions Club is truly one of the greatest Lions Clubs in the world," Judge Stevenson said during his keynote address. He enumerated the many accomplishments of the club in its ten years of existence. He told the gathering, "This club is a shining example of the Lions motto 'We Serve'."

Stevenson praised the group for its involvement in a variety of community projects, including the most recent challenge of stepping in to ensure the community medical clinic continued in operation. "When the community was facing a crisis, you stepped in, with the help of other clubs and the citizens, to ensure health services would continue here," he said. He also noted that the Minden Club had been named the top club in the district three years in a row.

Officers from the various clubs in the zone were then installed. Special mention was made of the incoming Minden president, Al Stott. At 90 years of age, the audience was told, he is likely the most senior of presidents in the 43,000 clubs world-wide. The gavel of office was presented by outgoing president Brian Moore.

Stott said it was an honour to be chosen to lead the club and he was looking forward to his year as president. He described his involvement with Lions as a 'life-saver'. "How many people my age can say they have something to do every day of their lives?" he said. "It has been great."

Following the installation ceremonies, a number of special awards were presented.

Al Stott, left is congratulated by Past Lions International President Judge Brian Stevenson after being installed as the president of the Minden and District Lions Club. It was noted that at 90 years of age, Lion Stott is probably the oldest person within the 43,000 clubs, to lead a Lions Club. The new president was also presented with a Melvin Jones Fellowship in recognition of his many years of service to the club and the community.

- Immediate past president Brian Moore was presented with a Helen Keller Fellowship by his club, in recognition of his year of service. Moore also received a Camp Kirk Fellowship.

- Lionesses Janet Readman and Muriel Harrington were presented with life memberships in Lions Foundation of Canada for their years of dedication to the Lioness Club.

- Lions Dennis Edlinton and Daryl Moore along with Jack Brezina, were presented with Camp Kirk Fellowships in honour of their work for the Minden Medical Clinic during the past year.

- Three endowments were also made to Canine Vision, Hearing Dogs Foundation and Special Needs Dogs Foundation in honour of the work of Lions Greg Readman and Nick Boekestyn and Lioness Janet Readman.

- Lion president Al Stott was presented with a Melvin Jones Fellowship, named for the founder of Lions Clubs and the highest award in Lionism, for his eight years of club participation and also in recognition of his many years of community service.

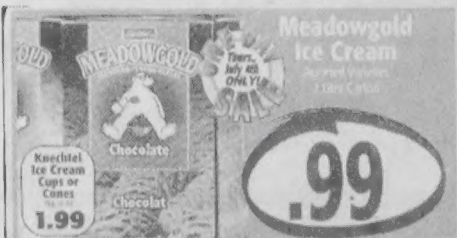

- MPP Chris Hodgson also presented Stott with a scroll of appreciation from the province for his work in the community.

Following the presentations, the members and guests enjoyed an evening of dancing and fellowship.

Leading the Minden Lioness Club for the coming year will be, from the left, secretary Carol Hill, treasurer Michelle McMillan, directors Muriel Harrington and Dorothy Boyd, president Kelly Moore, vice president and immediate past president Janet Readman, director Edna Moulton and Joanné Mickle.

Minden OPP office just a depot

by Andrew Milne

The Minden office of the OPP has been, to all intents and purposes, closed — and that's coming as a surprise to some residents of the county.

Office staff is no longer present to answer the phones, and administrative files have been moved out of the facility. Officers are however still using the building.

The former Minden detachment's two office employees took severance packages that were offered June 12 and 13, and are no longer on the job. The station's custodian has been told he can keep cleaning the office as long as it remains in use. Management has not yet announced how long that will be.

The station's phone was set to call forward to the Coboconk office — the detachment into which Mind-en's officers have been absorbed — June 17. There is also an answering machine at the Minden office, on which messages can be left for Minden officers. That machine was answering the phone last week when The Times called.

A front line officer says this has been a bit of a headache for officers working from the former detachment, in part because the public seems unaware, as yet, of the changes.

"This guy came to the door while I was there last week," he says, "and started banging on the door for someone to let him in... I was the only one there, and I was off duty... He was pretty upset when he was told he'd have to go to Coboconk."

The phone number at the Coboconk detachment is 454-3311. Peterborough dispatch, handling emergency calls, can still be reached at 1-800-461-6488.

The Minden detachment was absorbed into the Coboconk detachment as part of the force's restructuring effort, intended to reduce costs and streamline services. Part of that plan includes closing the current detachment building and opening a type of depot in another — probably smaller — location in Minden. That depot would not have office staff, but would have space for equipment and vehicles.

OPP management — including regional commander Bill Hutton — has contended the change would not affect officer performance. Some front line officers, along with retired Minden detective Al Bibby, have contested that will not be the case. Criticisms include (1) that officers will on occasion have to go to Coboconk to access files not on the computer network, and (2) that officers will on occasion have to go farther for a holding facility for suspects. Both these things, they say, would stretch police coverage in the county thinner than it is already.

Coboconk staff-sergeant Andy Millar told The Times, last month, that the force would insist that whatever property was maintained in Minden, should at least have a holding room for the purposes of detaining suspects. In the meantime the holding cells at the Minden office are still available to officers, and will be, as long as the building remains in use.

The move leaves the County of Haliburton without a detachment. Two municipal governments — Stanhope and Anson, Hindon and Minden — have passed resolutions opposing the move. Anson, Hindon and Minden, which had been negotiating with the Minister of the Solicitor General to find new accommodations for the OPP in Minden, also requested that these negotiations continue.

Citizens take up OPP fight

tiate with the Ministry of the Solicitor General to provide accommodations for the OPP detachment; and whereas the decision has been made to combine the Minden OPP detachment with Coboconk; now, therefore, be it resolved that the Council of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden strongly objects to the decision to amalgamate the Minden and Coboconk OPP detachments and house same in Coboconk, and requests that the decision be reviewed and that the OPP detachment supplying services to the County of Haliburton be reinstated by way of headquarters in Minden immediately."

Stanhope Township Council passed a similar resolution on June 14.

Deputy-Reeve Jerry Rome told Mayo and Kellett that he was glad to see some citizens taking up the fight.

"I hope you can rally the rest of the community," Reeve Anthon added.

Fatal crash

A Minden man died Wednesday as a result of injuries received in a single car accident on Bobcaygeon Road. The car, driven by 76 year old Mathias Dougherty slammed into a tree near the cemetery at a high rate of speed, killing the driver. Minden firefighters used the Jaws of Life to extricate the man from the crushed vehicle.

Rotary thanked for recreational facilities

by Misty Bennett

The Rotary Club of Minden was honoured June 24 with a special award from the Ontario Municipal Recreation Association.

Bob Livingstone of Peterbrough, representing the association, attended the annual meeting of the club to present a certificate recognizing the organization's work in improving recreational facilities in the community.

In his presentation speech, Livingstone made note of many of the contributions that the Rotary Club has made over the years.

The list included: the building of Rotary Park in the 1960's, to which the Rotary Club has recently donated money for playground equipment to improve the area; the municipal tennis courts; and the new Community Centre which was constructed in 1990, among others.

"The Rotary Club of Minden has been a driving force for recreation in this area," Livingstone said in presenting the certificate.

Exchange students

Jess Wallace, who has recently returned from her year-long club-sponsored student exchange in Australia, presented the club with three banners from down under.

Jody Reid the Minden club's outgoing exchange student was also at the meeting and was presented with her exchange student blazer by Rotarian Bill Obee.

READY FOR THE NEW YEAR: Members of the executive of the Rotary Club of Minden for the coming year include, from the left, past president Bill Roszell, treasurer Brian Adamson, secretary Gord Graham, president Barry Cray, director Ed Pergolas vice president Tara Lowe, sergeant at arms Ron Gambell and director Nora Snyder. Director Bill Roodenburg was absent.

In his closing remarks, as he ended his second term as president, Bill Roszell reflected on the accomplishments of the Rotary Club during the past two years.

"We are well on our way to becoming a more enthusiastic club, more than we have ever been. We've had a great year with lots of involvement," said Roszell.

He continued to list the major projects that the Rotary Club has been involved in over the past year as well as some of the regular, weekly, monthly or yearly projects which are just as important to the community.

"I am really proud of the effort and contribution this club has made to the community of Minden. Thank you," said Roszell in closing.

Past president Bill Roszell, left, accepts the certificate presented to the Rotary Club of Minden in appreciation for its support of recreational facilities in the community. The presentation was made by Ontario Municipal Recreation Association representative, Bob Livingstone.

Roszell presented Barry Cray, the new president of the club, with the gavel, president's pin, briefcase and president's beaded chain of honour.

"I am deeply honoured to serve the Rotary Club for the '96-'97 year. I see it as a chance to give something back to the community," said Cray after accepting the office.

Cray spoke of his plans for the upcoming year, and announced the executive for this year. The members include: past president Bill Roszell; vice president Tara Lowe; secretary Gord Graham; treasurer Brian Adamson; sergeant at arms Ron Gambell; and directors Nora Snyder, Bill Roodenburg and Ed Pergolas.

Promises, promises

Quietly, with little warning and certainly no public consultation, Haliburton County has lost its Ontario Provincial Police detachment. The sign is still there and the officers attached to what was the Minden office still come and go from the building on Highway 35, but the facility has been stripped of its administrative personnel. All the files have been relocated, and if you knock on the door looking for help, there may or may not be someone there....and even if someone answers the door, if it's an administrative problem, it's likely you'll be directed to the Coboconk office, 40 kilometres down Highway 35.

The citizens of the county who rely on the services of the Minden detachment have every right to be angry with this latest move. For years the area has been demanding increased police coverage. The response has been to reduce the manpower and cut the patrol hours. This latest move is simply one more step in the downgrading and further increases the vulnerability of this area.

Promises have been made that policing services in the county will not suffer as a result of this 'rationalization', however those who wear the OPP uniform and who are responsible for providing protection for the county disagree. Past and present officers say the move will seriously impair their ability to provide the degree of service they have in the past. They point out that in carrying out police responsibilities, such as transferring arrested individuals or dealing with paperwork, the officers on duty could spend much of their time out of the county.

Promises were also made by the present provincial government that police services would be maintained and even enhanced in Ontario. While this latest move may be classified by some as revolutionary, it does not contain one shred of common sense. It is time someone be held accountable for this ridiculous move. We're waiting to hear how the downgrading of the Minden detachment to a satellite office will improve the protection offered to the citizens of this county by the Ontario Provincial Police....but we think we are waiting in vain.

Anti-bear hunting claims short on the facts

Editor:

Engaging in a campaign of misinformation and emotional rhetoric, the Animal Alliance of Canada has launched efforts to ban bear hunting, as the first step toward ending all forms of our hunting heritage in Ontario. Ignoring the facts, as well as the enormous impact this will have on many Ontario residents, hunters, and tourist operators, they are stridently demanding an end to the spring bear hunt.

During a recent advertising campaign, the Animal Alliance has attempted to convince the public that bear populations are in danger, and the bear hunt is nothing more than a "blood sport" that orphans bear cubs.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Ontario's bear population is between 75,000 and 100,000 animals, and the harvest is well below that required for sustainability. Bear populations are increasing in many parts of the province. Bear meat is excellent to eat and enjoyed by hunters and their families.

The anti-hunting campaign has no regard for legitimate hunting practices, sound wildlife management practices, tourism, recreation, heritage and the impacts on aboriginal and non-aboriginal lifestyles. The value of the spring bear hunt in northern Ontario alone is $30 million annually, and it generates about 500 person-years of employment. In many areas of the province, it is the primary early season revenue generator.

Among the anti's extremist campaign materials are videos of bear poachers in action. They use these graphic images to malign hunters. There is nothing in common between poachers and hunters. The animal rights activists claim the hunt is uncontrolled, and that there is wanton killing of female bears with dependent cubs. In fact, it is illegal to kill females with cubs, and the majority of bears harvested in both spring and fall are young males - the very animals displaced or killed by dominant, territorial males. In 1994, resident hunters saw almost 14,000 bears while hunting. They chose to harvest just 1,600 animals, passing up over 12,000 bears.

These figures show a very controlled and ethical hunt.

The anti-hunting campaign is false propaganda, aimed at smearing our hunting heritage. I resent them trying to force me to go along with their vegetarian views. It is unfortunate that hundreds of thousands of dollars are being wasted on this campaign instead of going toward the real issues affecting black bears in Ontario. Instead of working with conservationists to improve our scientific understanding if these tremendous animal, they are actually harming them with misinformation and misunderstanding.

Good management practices, which include hunting, have allowed the bear population to grow and thrive in Ontario.

Editor:

- old is not necessarily history -

The old barn on Highway 35 will be missed by some, primarily due to its artistic value? It was, however, just another old barn.

Moving the house adjacent to the cemetery at taxpayers cost of $12,000 to $18,000 is ludicrous. What is its historical value?

How much will it cost to renovate and maintain in the future?

The future could be Minden's provided we put the past in proper perspective.

It would make more sense to mummify this existing council and put them on display at the museum, then perhaps the past would be more understandable.

Needling the needlers

Editor:

In response to 'Lack of immunization can result in student suspensions' (June 24), wouldn't it be nice if a doctor could give you a pill or a shot to insure that you will not get measles?

Unfortunately, this is not true. There are many reasons why some diseases have all but disappeared while others carry on. Balanced diets, modern cooking, sanitary conditions, preservatives, etc. have decreased many plagues that ravaged us in the dark ages.

In control tests in neighbouring states it was shown that the one with mandatory immunization killed some children. But what is a few children in the great scheme of government control and immunizations manufacturer's plan.

I personally believe that mandatory government plans will kill all of us a lot faster than Mother Nature's diseases.

Not enough kindness in the world today

A lawyer with a briefcase can steal more than a thousand men with guns.

Mario Puzo

Lawyers, I suppose, were children once.

Charles Lamb.

Ah, lawyers. What would we do without them? Now that the Behaviour Police have decreed it politically incorrect to make light of ethnic background, sexual proclivities or religious affiliation, lawyers are about the only mock-able group around.

That accounts for the proliferation of lawyer jokes — even books of lawyer jokes — currently making the rounds. Just about each and every one of us has been cross-checked by a lawyer or two in our broken-field scramble through life. It's an experience that is invariably as unpleasant as it is expensive.

Then there's O.J.

Hundreds of millions of people around the world watched a palpably guilty murderer beat the rap, thanks to a squad of silk-suited, sleazeball lawyers. Those lawyers had to know, better than most, that Simpson had blood on his hands. Didn't matter. They were hired to get him off.

That's what being a criminal lawyer is all about. They're like hired gunslingers in the Old West — with one crucial difference: the gunslingers at least put their own lives on the line. The members of the O.J. Dream Team didn't even wrinkle their suits.

Yeah, it's easy to despise lawyers alright...until you read about Robert Litchfield. He's a lawyer in Roseville, California, but not one of your run-of-the-bar lawyers. Last month he mailed a letter to all the lawyers in his county, asking to meet them at the next County Bar Association get-together. He wants to wash their feet.

That's right—Robert Litchfield would like to wash the feet of each and every attorney in Nevada County, California. It's not a Christian thing, although Litchfield is a practicing Baptist. He says that symbolic footwashing existed long before it became a religious gesture.

So why does he want to do it? Because he believes lawyers are victims of a kind of generalized hatred. "We all know about the crude hate words, the n-word, the k-word" says Litchfield. "How many times in your life have you heard people say the word 'lawyer' with the same tone as they say the hate words? Why is this acceptable? I've actually said it myself and I'm one of them. Here's a new class of people that are so dehumanized, it's time to start ministering to them."

I think Robert Litchfield may be on to something. Not the foot-washing necessarily—I don't know what to make of that—I mean the ministering to lawyers.

After all, it's dead easy to hate lawyers. Thinking kindly of them is an infinitely greater challenge.

It reminds me of something Canadian writer Douglas Coupland said in an interview recently. He said "It really scares me how few outlets and how few opportunities we have in everyday life to be kind. I think our systems—political and theological and economic—all work together now to make a world that's not too conducive to kindness."

Coupland remembered standing at a counter lineup at Chicago's O'Hare airport, trying to buy a pizza slice, but finding only Canadian money in his pocket. A woman—a perfect stranger—handed him a couple of bucks U.S. He considers her an angel. "Wouldn't it be great if we could go through every day of our lives exercising that same sort of kindness? Wouldn't that be heaven?"

And the lawyer shall lie down with the lamb.

Hmmm...If not heaven, close enough.

Chamber News

by Connie Sims

Hello fellow members, friends and business associates. In keeping with my 1996 New Year's Resolution, this is my fourth column of Chamber of Commerce news. A number of business associates and residents of our county have approached me these past weeks to say they enjoy reading this column, which is always a delight to hear and encouraging.

Since my last column in May, your Chamber was represented at two more trade shows, The Minden Home & Cottage Show and the Haliburton Home & Recreation Show. Our 16' cedar strip Langford canoe was on display at both events. Tickets on this canoe are $2.00 each or 3 for $5.00; do drop by and support our efforts. Thanks to all who have already bought a ticket on this fund raiser. For the summer season the canoe will be on display both inside and outside the Chamber of Commerce Information Centre, on Highway 35 in Minden.

I was able to spend some time in our booth at the Haliburton Home & Vacation Show June 7 and 8. General Manager Brian Dean and I met hundreds of wonderful visitors. A couple of names from the past - Charlie Tyler reminisced with us about when he was the second president of the Chamber back in 1961-1962. As well Gord Barr spoke of when he was director on the board. It's always a pleasure to meet board members, both past and present.

Affinity Card

In a mail out to members early in June, we included an application for a new Affinity Card. I hope everyone has returned this application to the office. This card will be prepared by the Ontario Chamber of Commerce and will be sent out along with details of the program in August.

Sunny Acres

Recently I was invited out to visit and tour a long established (1981) facility, Sunny Acres at Elephant Lake. By coincidence relatives from Niagara were visiting for the week-end. After a hearty Chez Brun breakfast the rains finally stopped, the five of us set out for a drive to the Elephant Lake district. I'd forgotten how beautiful a tour to the eastern part of our county can be, driving along Highway 121 east to the Essonville Line, into the back door of Wilberforce and in to the Harcourt area. I'm always amazed and encouraged by the welcome of fellow business members. Leila Hilo greeted us and took us on a guided tour of their 33 acre facility. These folks cater both to families and fishermen. Leila tells me because camping has become increasingly popular, they are doubling their tenting area. I know from experience this can be a wonderful and memorable vacation for all members of the family, from tots to grand parents.

Business to Business

On June 5 we had a good turn out for our Business to Business meeting at Hart Lodge. The evening was sponsored by Carnarvon Lumber and Building Supplies. The Cowling family prepared delicious refreshments and finger food. Membership Chair Warren Riley hosted the evening and there were numerous door prizes donated by local businesses. General Manager Brian Dean brought us up to date with Chamber business. Thanks to all participants! See everyone at the next meeting in September.

Gala dinner

Be sure to mark October 18, 1996 on your calendars for our gala dinner/dance at PineStone Resort and Conference Centre. Finishing touches are being put on the plans in the upcoming weeks. The evening will feature a gourmet dinner, dancing and entertainment by a 17 piece orchestra with 6 vocalists. The music for the evening will be provided by the orchestra known as the Canadian Tribute to Glenn Miller. Watch future columns for final details.

Opening night for Music by the Gull

The first evening of free musical entertainment in downtown Minden drew a crowd of over 100 Friday. Spectators found vantage points on both sides of the river to hear Gordon Kidd and his band Kidd Kountry perform. The Music by the Gull evenings are presented every Friday between 7 and 9 p.m. by the Minden BIA with the assistance of the Minden Lions Club. The rock group Puzzle Factory is scheduled to appear this week.

We are planning a mammoth fund raising venture which will assist the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce in becoming self-supporting, as well as raising funds for a local charity.

Directors meeting

The most recent Board of Directors meeting was at Birch Point Lodge on June 19. This will be the last directors meeting until September, as the summer is a busy time for everyone. The executive and committee members still meet on a regular basis to keep the Chamber running smoothly and projects on course.

We were able to hire three students to assist with visitor inquiries at the office for the summer months. This is possible due to government sponsored youth employment programs. Drop by and say hi to Jason, Danielle and Megan next time you're by the office.

Over the last couple of months everyone has been busy repairing, renovating, painting, planting and even expanding businesses. Success to each of you for 1996! If you would like a representative of the Chamber of Commerce to tour, visit or just drop by your business, please don't hesitate to call our office at 286-1760. We now boast over 275 members.

Destination guide

We are preparing for the production of our 1997 Destination Guide. Aben Graphics of Dwight is designing an all colour magazine. These folks will be contacting local businesses during the summer months to arrange advertising space. The Destination Guide is sent out to all enquiries received at our office as well as all points of entry into Ontario, major visitor centres in New York and Michigan. Remember the Destination Guide will be our major advertisement at all trade shows for 1996-1997.

In closing, it is with deep dismay and disappointment that the Chamber of Commerce has learned that the Economic Development Corporation Committee has decided not to renew Bryan Brown's contract as coordinator, which is a federally funded position. We feel over the past three years that Bryan has been an invaluable asset to the Chamber of Commerce. He has guided and advised us over some very difficult times. In a recent mail out I outlined some of Bryan's accomplishments of the past three years in Haliburton County. Your support in the form of a letter would be most appreciated.

ONTARIO DRUG BENEFITS IMPORTANT News for Seniors and People Receiving Social Assistance

Because the federal government has reduced transfer payments for Ontario's health and social services by $2.1 billion over the next two years, the Ontario government must act now to preserve its drug programs.

Starting July 15, Ontario Drug Benefit recipients will contribute a small amount toward their prescription costs. Ontario is the last province to introduce co-payments.

How much you pay depends on your income. You will pay up to $2 per prescription if you are:

- single, 65 or over, with a net income of less than $16,018 per year
- a couple, both over 65, with a combined net income of less than $24,175 per year
- living in a nursing home, home for the aged or home for special care
- receiving welfare or family benefits
- receiving home care

You're 65 and your income is higher than the above? Then you pay the first $100 of your drug costs each year. After that, you'll pay only the ODB dispensing fee of up to $6.11 per prescription.

You have extra health insurance from a private company? Call your company. It may cover co-payment costs.

Call the Ministry of Health at 1-888-405-0405 if you have more questions. Or look for information sheets at your pharmacy.

Midget Royals undefeated in eight games

First place in the league standings belongs to the Minden midget Royals hardball team. In eight games, the Royals are undefeated, winning seven and tying one.

The Royals earned their seventh win June 23 when they played host to the always tough Omemee squad.

Minden starting pitcher Ryan Anderson hurled a strong four innings, allowing four runs on four hits to pick up the win. Darren Mills pitched the final frame to earn the save.

Minden's defense shone in that final inning, with all three Omemee outs recorded as the runners attempted to steal.

The Royals' Cory Bull provided the hitting highlights in the second inning. With Mat Cheeseman at third base and Chris Little on second, Bull hammered a line drive homer over the right field fence. Jamie "Jam" Henderson also scored a run in the fifth inning on a Cheeseman single and then, Cheeseman and Little crossed the plate again on Mills' hard double up the middle.

First Jenna Tompkins Memorial Tournament Peelers win title with rally in final inning

The Peelers, a team consisting of family and friends of the Tompkins family, won the championship of the first Jenna Tompkins Memorial Slo-Pitch Tournament. The event was held June 22 at the Minden Ball Park, in memory of Jenna Tompkins, who died last summer at the age of nine. Funds raised from this event, which organizers hope to make an annual tournament, will be donated to the Minden Hospital Building Fund.

The Peelers earned an exciting come-from-behind victory, scoring a dozen runs in the last inning to overtake the Nickstockers, Nick Joanu's team from Minden, sponsored by Dollo's IGA.

In spite of the loss, Nickstockers players were awarded both the male and female most valuable player trophies. Patty Bronson was the female MVP and Dave Hartwick was the male MVP.

Nuts 'N Bolts, a team put together by Jeff Tompkins of Mississauga and Dwayne and Tammy Warburton of Minden, was chosen the most sportsmanlike team of the tournament.

It was nice to see the different communities come together for such a worthy cause," said organizer Bev Covello. "New friends were made and a good time was enjoyed by all.

"The community of Minden and area showed tremendous support for this event and it became obvious why it is known as a special place to live and visit," Covello said.

Covello offered a special thanks to the players from all six teams who competed in spite of the "wet and nasty weather."

"A special thank you to Ivan Ingram, Greg Carpenter, Bill Stackhouse and Dwayne Warburton, for their fantastic job of umpiring voluntarily and for getting us through our growing pains," she added.

The final tally isn't in yet, but the estimated profit from the event is close to $2,000, all of which will be donated to the Minden Hospital Building Fund.

1-900 telephone number set up to accept antlerless deer tag applications

The Ministry of Natural Resources' 1-900 antlerless deer tag application telephone line is officially open for business. As of Monday, June 17, hunters willing to pay the $5.10 fee for the privilege of applying for an antlerless deer tag from their own home may do so. The fee will automatically appear on the caller's telephone bill.

Two lines are available — one for English and the other for those wishing to apply en français — 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Natural Resources Minister Chris Hodgson announced the implementation of the service on the day it came into effect.

"This new 1-900 telephone application system will make the 1996 antlerless deer tag validation tag draw more efficient and cost-effective," he said, adding "Hunters can still apply by mail, the way they always have, but the telephone system offers many advantages over the mail application system.

"Results will be available faster than ever before," Hodgson continued. "Starting September 3, hunters can dial a 1-800 toll-free number to find out if they have received an antlerless deer tag."

The telephone numbers are contained in a brochure that has been mailed out to all deer hunters who have applied at least once for the draw during the past three years. The brochure explains in detail how to access the telephone application system and includes a worksheet to help applicants prepare all the information they will need when they make the 1-900 call.

Telephone applications will close at midnight (Eastern Daylight Time) on July 31.

"All you need is your valid hunting-version Outdoors Card number and the number of your first and second choice Wildlife Management Units (WMUs)," Hodgson said. "Another feature of the telephone system that hunters will like is that they don't have to buy a deer licence before the draw. They will have to buy a licence if they have drawn a tag and wish to hunt an antlerless deer or an antlered deer."

The system is accessible with either a rotary or touch-tone phone. Cordless phones, radio phones and cellular phones won't work with the system.

competitive hardball, but the final result saw Bobcaygeon grab four points.

The opening game got off to a rocky start for Minden pitcher Rob Solomon. In the first two innings, he gave up six runs on four walks and five hits.

Offensively, the Royals kept the game close, with Mike Hamilton, Ryan Dawson, Andrew Graham and Aidan McKnight scoring.

Paul Daniels took over on the mound in the third. He retired the first three batters he faced.

With the Minden batters also going down in order, Daniels returned to pitch the fourth inning. He faced only five batters in that frame, allowing two singles.

"This was another fine effort from an underplayed player who always competes, has a very pleasant disposition and is a real team player," said coach Andy Mackenzie.

Going into their final at bat down 7-4, the Minden squad was hoping for a rally. The first two batters reached base and the Royals had runners at second and third with none out.

Unfortunately for the Royals, their hopes for a victory were dashed when they faced some outstanding pitching that saw the next three successive batters strike out.

Later in the day, the Royals went to Bobcaygeon for a rematch. In that road game, the Royals got off to a quick start. With Cam Neville on base with a lead-off walk, Nick Kulas slammed a home run to give Minden a 2-0 lead.

Starting pitcher Aaron Gibbons had a shaky start, issuing two walks before settling down to retire the next three Bobcaygeon batters. The walks proved costly, though, with one run scoring on a sacrifice fly.

Neither team added to its score in the second frame.

Neville took over the Minden pitching duties for the third and fourth innings. He allowed two runs on a pair of hits and four walks. He struck out two.

The Royals kept the game close through the fourth, with Gordon MacDougall hitting an RBI single that scored Sean Martin.

With Joshua Belcher pitching a three up and three down fifth inning, as has become their habit, the Royals were looking for a rally in their last at bat. Minden had the tying and go-ahead runs on base, in the form of Steve Newell and Colin Mackenzie, the Minden bats fell silent and the Royals weren't able to cash the two runners in to overcome the 4-3 Bobcaygeon lead.

"The team members continue to work hard in order to turn their season around, gearing toward the playoff tournament in August," coach Mackenzie said.

Lying to conservation officer proves expensive for North York angler

A North York man learned that it doesn't pay to give false information to a conservation officer.

The man was fined $450 in provincial court in Minden June 18 after being convicted on a charge of giving false information to a fisheries officer. He was also fined $75 for fishing without a licence and his fishing equipment was seized.

Minden conservation officer Dan Smith testified that he had checked several anglers on Elephant Lake in Harcourt Township.

"In one boat, two of the three guys didn't have licences," Smith said.

The accused was one of two anglers in the next boat Smith checked. Neither of the men had a licence with him.

"They said they had left their licences back at the cottage," Smith said. "I offered to go back to the cottage with them to check their licences."

At the cottage, one of the men admitted that he didn't have a licence and Smith issued him a ticket with a fine of $50. The other man said he couldn't find his licence and he gave Smith the same name as he had out on the lake. He was also issued a $50 ticket for fishing without a licence.

While he was going through the statements given by the two men at the cottage and those of the three previous anglers he had checked, Smith discovered that the telephone numbers he had been given by two different people matched, but the addresses and names didn't.

Smith went back to the cottage a half hour later and the accused gave him the false name for the third time.

At that point," Smith said, "I arrested him and seized all his gear."

Smith said the man had given him the name of someone he thought had a licence which he could borrow.

Notice to anglers

The MNR advises that lake trout slot limits apply through all open seasons, not just while ice fishing.

Street repairs on hold

Anson, Hindon and Minden had applied for Infrastructure funding, which was left over from the Haliburton County share, to refinish Prince Street.

The municipality has been advised that the project was not approved.

The federal government has announced that new Infrastructure funds will be made available. Reeve Jeanne Anthon said she hopes the new Infrastructure program will favour the Prince Street project.

More parking available in new municipal lot

Minden is already the envy of most municipalities its size for the amount of parking space available. An additional 35-space lot within a block of the main street has recently been paved. Lines will be painted on the Milne Street lot within a few days.

One of the new spaces, next to the stone house at the corner of Milne and Prince streets, will be reserved handicapped parking only.

Grade 5 classes design squares

Quilts created from students' work

by Misty Bennett

A desire to teach children traditional skills has led to an amazing project between Archie Stouffer Elementary School and the Minden County Town Museum.

The grade five classes at Archie Stouffer were approached by museum coordinator Marvella Smith in an attempt to teach students an introductory lesson in quilting.

The project tied in perfectly with the classes' two month long unit on pioneer life in the Highlands. The classes were given the opportunity to paint squares which would then be stitched into a quilt.

Teacher Bonnie Berry managed the project at the school, with help from the other two grade five instructors, Dennis Baker and Mike Darlington.

The students were allowed to design their own squares for the quilt.

"The drawings had to be a pioneer theme and reflect something that they had seen or heard about during the teaching unit," says Berry.

Of the 76 students in the three classes, 55 blocks were returned to the museum. These will be used to make two quilts. Participation in the project was not mandatory but many of the children took a keen interest in the project.

The exercise not only taught the students a little about a centuries old tradition of quilt making but they also learned that recycling isn't just about pop cans, newspapers and glass. All the panels used in the quilts come from recycled material as is the fabric that makes up the framing.

When the quilts have been completed, one of them will remain with the museum. One quilt, originally slated to be used as a raffle prize will now stay with the museum. The other quilt will be given back to the school for the students to do with it as they wish.

The quilts will be individually identified and numbered, which says Smith, increases their value. The artists of each of the panels will also be identified on the backs of the quilts.

The museum expects that the second quilt will be handed over to the students of Archie Stouffer in September.

The museum's goal is to have both quilts finished by the end of the summer and to help reach this goal the museum is welcoming members of the community to join in quilting bees at the museum. The dates for the two bees are July 16 for the museum's quilt and August 13 for the children's quilt. Those who are unable to participate in the bee are invited to come and watch the sewing in progress.

Smith hopes to be able to go to the school to teach other children quilting, and in fact hopes to be able to take it to a higher level and eventually teach some of the students skills such as hand stitching for use in quilting.

New administrator at SSFC

Sir Sanford Fleming College will be under new leadership soon. For 10 months Janet Honsberger will be stepping in on behalf of Barb Bolin, the current Haliburton Campus operations leader. Bolin is planning to take a 10 month leave of absence, to do some travelling.

Honsberger brings 15 years experience with Sir Sanford Fleming College with her to Haliburton's campus. For the past three years she has worked as Department Administrator for Community Services and Applied Arts at the Sutherland Campus in Peterborough. Honsberger expects to return to the Sutherland campus at the end of the 10 month period.

She will be taking over all the responsibilities of Campus operations leader, including administration, budget and overseeing all aspects of the Haliburton satellite campus.

"There was an internal posting for the job. I applied and went through the interview process two weeks ago and then the selection committee made their decision," says Honsberger.

Honsberger's interests lie in the area of community development and curriculum bridging. She hopes that she will be able to contribute towards linking some of the post-secondary diploma areas.

Honsberger also hopes to cement some of the relationships with Peterborough.

"They are very interested in what's going on here and I hope they will lend some ideas for the campus," says Honsberger.

"Ten months is a short time, but I will be working with Barb for three weeks before she leaves. I'm really grateful for that orientation period."

Honsberger realizes that it will be difficult to implement any new ideas in such a short period of time, but she hopes to make a start. Budget setting in the new year is something that Honsberger is looking forward to. At that point she expects to know more about funding.

"It's a time for change in the college system. The challenge is to be constantly assuming what the government will be cutting funding," she says.

"I think we must be very vigilant in the face of further cuts," says Honsberger. "A lot of good work with data collection is mandatory. No quick decisions can be made without knowledge of the implications."

Honsberger is especially looking forward to the challenges and opportunities that will be coming with the job.

Barb Bolin (left) and Janet Honsberger share ideas on the front steps of the Haliburton campus of Sir Sanford Fleming College.

"The staff group are a tremendous unit. They have a very solid reputation and are a really great team. I feel fortunate to come into this group, but I realize that it's a short-time to become a fully functional part of the team," says Honsberger.

She believes that strengthening the ties between the community and the college could only be beneficial for both groups.

"I see some real mutual benefits in what we can provide to the community and vice versa. It's a win, win situation."

Honsberger will be joining the Sir Sanford Fleming team at the Haliburton campus on July 29.

Seminar highlights investment strategies

Money management for women was the topic of the evening, Tuesday, as the Minden branch of the Toronto Dominion bank hosted its second Women in the Know presentation at the Minden Curling Club.

The seminar is designed especially for women to learn more about investments and saving to achieve financial goals.

Toronto Dominion asset manager Alison Loxton, made the presentation.

Among the topics covered were: managing a budget, ways to save money, strategies of investment and an overview of the many different types of investments available.

Much of the information was presented in the form of a slide show. A question period followed the presentation.

Investment strategies, budgeting and getting the most for your dollar were topics included in a presentation for women which took place Tuesday at the Minden Curling Club.

Stanhope firefighters test their rescue skills

Airport emergency simulation

Stanhope fire fighters tested their skills in dealing with aircraft emergencies, June 10th.

Airport manager Mike Carey and local pilot Dennis Lafleur worked with Deputy Chief John Hogg in arranging the exercise, which involved a simulated mechanical failure on the plane which caused the pilot to experience a heart attack.

The firefighters practised fire suppression utilizing a specialized foam.

The Medical First Response Team was involved in the exercise as well, extricating the injured pilot Lafleur, and his son Justin, from the aircraft. The operation gave the firefighters knowledge of the access point of the aircraft, the key controls and gave them an opportunity to practise skills they hope they will never have to use.

Carey said the exercise went very well and he felt the firefighters learned a great deal about what to expect in the case of an aircraft emergency.

Horseshoe Lake POA continues to grow

The Horseshoe Lake Property Owners Association is in good shape. That was the key message brought to the group's annual meeting June 22 by president Fran Smith.

The president said one of the reasons the organization is doing so well is its strong and active executive.

In her opening remarks to the meeting she noted that membership in the group was up and that 213 property owners on the lake had already joined this year, compared with 199 at the same time last year. There are also a number of membership kits yet to be returned, she pointed out, so the number will likely be higher.

Smith said one of her objectives this year will be to increase communication among the members about lake activities and about things happening in the community. "There a lot of things happening in Minden and the area during the summer," she noted. She advised members to consult the information sheet which was circulated with the tax bills and monitor the local newspaper to keep abreast of events.

The president also suggested that designating block captains for portions of the lake and establishing bulletin boards at key locations around the lake would be useful in keeping members informed.

As part of the association's involvement in the community, she reported that an environmental award was presented during the recent graduation exercises at Archie Stouffer Elementary School. Grade eight student Ryan Sisson received the honour for his efforts in attempting to establish a recycling program at the school.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Jeanne Anthon was the guest speaker at the meeting. She advised the membership of the new fees established at the municipal dumps and of the five bag limit. She noted that passes, included with the tax bills are needed now to use the dumps to ensure that the service is only being used by ratepayers. She also encouraged members to recycle as much of their garbage as possible.

She also suggested that the association keep a close eye on the changes to the Planning Act which have been introduced. She noted the changes will speed the process of dealing with development requests and that there could be areas of the lake which may be open to development. She advised the members to monitor the process and be prepared to act quickly if they wish to respond to proposals which they feel may be detrimental to the lake environment. Anthon also suggested that having a lake capacity study carried out might strengthen any response the association might wish to make to development proposals.

Regarding the issue of physicians, she told the meeting that the community is set to welcome a new doctor to the Lions Medical Centre in July. However, she also noted that more doctors are needed and asked the members to be on the look-out for physicians who may wish to relocate to the community.

The reeve also reported that for the fourth year in a row, there has been no increase in municipal taxes.

Later in the meeting the members debated the issue of what to do with a trust fund of more than $3000 that was established over five years ago in response to a development proposal on the lake. The money was not needed at the time and is being held in a special account.

A number of proposals was suggested, including using it to fund a lake capacity study or donating it to local medical services. The group decided to retain the fund for the moment and review the issue at each annual meeting.

Eleanor Gilbert reported that the water quality tests indicate that the lake is rated 'excellent' in terms of nutrient loading. She said this was an improvement over previous years and suggested that members continue to limit their use of fertilizers and detergents to reduce the impact on the water.

The president said the position of Lake Steward is currently open and invited interested members to become involved. She noted that FOCA, the Federation of Ontario Cottage Association is active in its support of this effort and supplies the material needed to assist anyone taking on this position.

Before the meeting closed tribute was paid to the retiring Membership Convener, Isabel Willis. "For over ten years she has managed our membership efforts and done an excellent job," the president said. She praised her for being ready with membership lists and kits each year and for co-ordinating the annual membership canvas. On behalf of the association Isabel was presented with a gift for her efforts. "I certainly enjoyed the job," she responded, "and met a lot of interesting people doing it."

A new membership convener, Colleen Karir will take over for Isabel.

The association also elected its executive for the coming year. The current executive was returned for another term. It includes: president Fran Smith, vice president Jim Willis, secretary Ingrid Versteeg and treasurer Darrell Selsky, social convener Cathie Wilson, publicity Isabelle Heaven, newsletter Ken Gilpin, and directors Vivian Mann, Doreen Powell, Jim Reeve, Maurice Wilson and Pauline Plooard.

Potter specializes in small things from a big wheel

by Morris Duff

Marie-Luce Pelletier is a proud Quebecer, a proud Ontarian and a proud potter who does unbelievably tiny miniature pieces. Her work, mostly less than an inch in size but made on a potter's wheel, will be on display and sale next weekend at the sixth annual Highlands Artisans' Festival in Minden.

Marie-Luce demonstrated her Quebec pride last Monday, on St. Jean Baptiste Day, by flying her Quebec flag at the cottage she, her husband and son share on Boshkung Lake. She demonstrates her pride in Ontario having made this the province where she married, gave birth and now creates her doll house size pottery.

Her pride as a potter can be seen in the work she showed me: a washstand pitcher and basin, a porcelain jug, an old fashioned stone jug, a soup tureen, a mixing bowl. All are miniscule, delicate and lovely.

The Artisans' Festival will be at the Minden Community Centre, including the arena next Saturday and Sunday. Marie-Luce will be one of 68 artists - painters, potters, carvers, stained glass designers and folk artists - from several parts of Ontario.

Born and raised near St. Hyacinthe, east of Montreal, Marie-Luce became interested in pottery while on a trip to Europe when she was 20. "I always had been attracted by potters and in Europe I visited their studios..."

"It's hard to tell how it happened, but it was the 70s and everyone was going into art, like pottery and weaving. In Quebec there was a current for it; a wave for it. So my desire coincided with the right time for it."

Marie-Luce got into miniatures shortly after she graduated from art school in Montreal in 1974. A naturally thrifty person, she disliked empty corners beside the regular sized work in the kiln which she paid to use.

So she filled those empty places with small pieces. "Gradually I was doing smaller and smaller vases because that is what I increasingly liked doing."

By the mid-1980s she was invited to join a miniature show where she discovered that her small work — not nearly as small as what she does now — was the direction in which she wanted to go. "So I quit doing regular pottery."

While taking part in Toronto's One of a Kind show, Marie-Luce was introduced to an Ontario Hydro engineer, Lloyd Sexsmith. She moved to Toronto and now lives in Thornhill. Their son, Remy, is six and a half.

Sexsmith's family roots on the north shore of Boshkung Lake go back to the 1880s. His grandfather, Rev. E.M. Sexsmith, was a Methodist minister at the Stanhope Mission. His parents bought land on the lake in the 1930s. Lloyd and Marie-Luce now have six acres and are developing it to be their retirement home.

"I love it here," she said while being interviewed beside a window looking out over Boshkung. "The view. I love the water, I like the peace...When I come here it's just plain relaxation. We have no T.V. That's deliberate."

Lloyd and Marie-Luce were married in a little church on Twelve Mile Lake in 1991. She has been an Ontario resident nine years. Some people buy Marie-Luce's pottery to place it in doll houses. Everything is decorated with a little brush. Tweezers are used to hold the items when they are dipped in glaze.

Every piece is turned on a wheel and each is different from all the others.

Prices range from $15 to $100 which buys a full tea set. "People are willing to pay if they know the time involved. All are made one by one."

Potter Marie-Luce Pelletier enjoys working in miniature. She will be one of many artists who will be displaying their work at the annual Haliburton Highlands Artisans' Festival next weekend at the Minden arena.

Summer arrives at the Terrace

-submitted-

Weeds have been uprooted, flowers are blooming, vegetables sprouting and the grass is being mowed twice a week - yes, we agree, summer must be here. The shuffleboarders start early and the golfers play late. Some of the residents are taking a bus trip to Algonquin Park and are already talking about a trip later in the summer. The Senior tea at the Community Centre was attended by some of our members - we are sure all enjoyed the "goodies" and thank the members of the Council who did the baking!

Reunion time

Reunions are still a fun time - The 55th Anniversary of the Canadian Women's Army Corps was held in Peterborough and Fern Donnelly with friend Isabel Whitfield from Calgary attended the event after enjoying a week together in Minden. Some 250 ex-CWAC's from across the country attended the three day events. Many of the ladies had served overseas and reminiscing of good and painful times carried on into the early morning hours. The Memorial service on Sunday remembered our departed sisters.

Nostalgia often has the upper hand at such gatherings and this was no exception. Grace from Victoria, Isabel from Calgary, Mary from Saskatchewan, Rosa from Guelph, Alice from Peterborough and Fern from Minden enjoyed the moments and relived the days of those historic times. "We'll meet again" were the words that ended our celebrations.

Info centre has details on complaints regarding television and radio programming

In 1987, the Canadian Association of Broadcasters (CAB) developed the first code to address the portrayal of violence in television programming. Revised and strengthened in 1994, the current CAB voluntary code regarding violence in television programming today is the toughest of its kind in North America.

The Canadian Broadcasting Standards Council (CBSC) is an independent organization, established in 1990 by Canada's private broadcasters. The CBSC administers the CAB voluntary code as well as industry codes dealing with ethics and sex role portrayal. The CBSC helps Canadians voice their concerns and resolve their complaints about private radio and television programming.

The first step in registering a complaint is to call, write or fax the station concerned. Most complaints are settled this way.

Viewers and listeners not satisfied with a station's response should forward their complaints to the CBSC for further action.

If you would like to know how to reach the CBSC, contact the Haliburton County Information Centre Inc. In Haliburton the centre is located on Maple Avenue, in the Drag River Building. Phone 705-457-2733. The centre is open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

In Minden, the centre operates an office, on Mondays only, in the Court House building, adjacent to the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal office.

Phone 705-286-4100. The office is open, Mondays only, 10 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Swingers and cloggers at Hyland Crest

We began this week with the Swingers and the Cloggers working out and later in the day we solved the problems of the world.

After the chapel service with Rev Bakkers, we had a wonderful do at the Minden Arena. The Municipal Seniors Tea was provided to us by our Reeve and the counsellors of Anson, Hindon and Minden. We thank them, the food was delicious. Pearl and the girls came to play euchre. The card players all won.

Bus driver, Bob, drove us to Head Lake Park for a picnic on Wednesday. We enjoyed the food, the ducks and the weather was really enjoyable. I had a heck of a time wearing my hat due to the breezes. We thank all the volunteers who make these trips possible. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts. We are so sorry for the mix-up Agnes. Our Hyland Crest Auxiliary treated us to a delicious ice-cream cone and of course we socialized and drank tea at the Tea Party.

Some folks enjoyed the reading with Mary and the grand finale was dancing and music by the Grandfathers on Friday afternoon. A good way to end Seniors Month. It's been a happy one. We're all looking forward now to celebrating Canada's birthday.

We lost one of our family this week. We will be remembering her in a memorial service on Tuesday. We have great sympathy for the family of Beatrice Taylor.

HALIBURTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION

HALIBURTON COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION BOARD OWNED HOUSE FOR SALE BY TENDER

The Haliburton County Board of Education invites sealed tenders for the sale and removal, at the purchaser's expense, of the Board's house located beside the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Anyone interested in purchasing this house may view the same by contacting Jim Bradley, Superintendent of Business at 457-1980 to make arrangements.

A refundable certified cheque or money order in the amount of $1,000.00 must accompany the tender in order to be considered.

Removal of the house must be no later than August 1996 or suitable arrangement.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Sealed tenders marked "Board House" will be accepted until 12:00 noon on Wednesday, July 31, 1996 and should be forwarded to:

James E. Bradley, Superintendent of Business
Haliburton County Board of Education,

Searching for your roots: a great summer project

by June Partridge

This summer season is going to be a wonderful time for genealogists to further their family tree information. Since tourism is one of the basics to the health of our County, we take for granted the influx of the many visitors.

How many are really relatives returning to their roots to re-establish ties and share memories both sad and happy? Your local County group is trying to prepare you for, what could be, an excellent chance to add to your family tree. At the April meeting the Genealogy Group shared information on how to trace family roots with methods that worked best, both for the beginner and for those who had been doing research for quite a while.

There are many historical events occurring this summer that may help you to visualize the events of your ancestor's search for a new home in the New World.

Throughout the summer there will be walking tours on different sections of Yonge Street that is the "World's Longest Street". It stretches 1,178 miles from Lake Ontario to Rainy River. There are United Empire Loyalists and Simcoe Loyalists; there are the William Berczy Settlers from Germany and the Pennsylvania Dutch all of whom helped to clear the land and build the road in return for land close to it. Emigrants came by foot, by horse, by covered Conestoga wagon and some came by ship via Quebec and Montreal. Those who came by boat then travelled by coach, by foot or by yet another boat.

There were many Indian families who hunted, fished and lived here before the migration of people from Europe and America. Now, try to picture how and from where your ancestors came. Try to picture what it was like for them to leave their home and travel to a new land. Can you imagine what courage it took? Can you imagine how difficult it was to learn how to do almost everything in a new way?

In order to get a clear picture, read histories of the time period when your relatives arrived. We have many excellent books about Haliburton County that have been written. Here are a few names of books to pique your interest: Muskoka and Haliburton 1615-1875, by the Champlain Society for the Government of Ontario; Fragments of a Dream, by Leo Dobrensky; In Quest of Yesterday by Nila Reynolds; Early Days in Haliburton by H.R. Cummings.

Whether your ancestors came to this county or not, you will be fascinated by the sheer determination of those in your family who came to Canada in the early developmental years of this country. You will discover what it actually meant, in day to day struggles, to reach an area that held high hopes for them for a new and better life. Perhaps these exercises will stretch your imagination but they will show you how important it is to leave some written commentary on your own life for your descendants!

Why not start writing or taping memories of your family life? Describe how and where you have lived from childhood to adulthood. Who or what shaped your life? Why are some of your possessions so important to you? Who are your parents and grandparents and how did they shape your life? What is some of the family lore that has been passed down and how do you feel about these stories? Are there any black sheep or horse thieves that you know about and what shaped their lives? Where did you go on vacation and where have you travelled? Were there significant turning points in your life?

If you sit down periodically and think about these questions you may be able to think back to stories that were passed down to you by relatives. Now you may have a better picture of your family history because now you know yourself better!

Sometimes the clues that we are looking for are within our memory and by reminiscing with family you can form a picture or remember a detail that has escaped you in the past. By reading either historical books or historical fiction books about the era and the area when your relatives came to Canada you will begin to form a picture that will help you understand your family history. Questions may now come to mind about some of the missing periods of time in your family life and this will help you know where to start your search. Attend historical events in the area in which your family settled.

Don't forget to keep and store all your information in a place that you name in your personal papers so that those who come after you in your family can start with what you have found in your family tree and know who you really were and what shaped your life. When family genealogists come along later to search your Family Tree they will be forever grateful that you took the time to let them know who you were and what it was like in your world. You never know whether it will be your memories that a historian will use to write a story about this period in Canadian history!

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIPS OF ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN NOTICE OF PASSING OF BY-LAW NO. 96-30

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden passed By-law No. 96-30 on the 27th day of June, 1996, pursuant to Section 34 of the Planning Act, R.S.O. 1990, as amended.

AND TAKE NOTICE that any individuals, corporations or public bodies may appeal to the Ontario Municipal Board in respect of the By-law by filing with the Clerk, of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden, not later than the 22nd day of July, 1996, a Notice of Appeal setting out the objection to the By-law and the reasons in support of the objection, accompanied with the fee prescribed under the Ontario Municipal Board Act. A Notice of Appeal may not be filed by an unincorporated association or group. However, a Notice of Appeal may be filed in the name of an individual who is a member of the association or group.

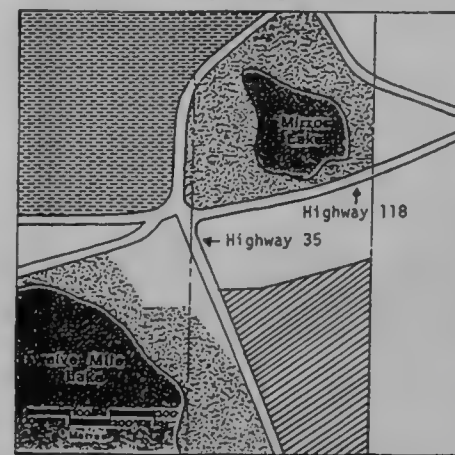

The purpose of the zoning by-law amendment is to change the zoning category of approximately 11.8 hectares (29.2 acres) of land, located on Highway 35, at Part of Lot 15, Concession 13, Township of Minden, from Rural (RU) and Aggregate Extraction (AE) to Highway Commercial Exception Thirty with a Holding provision (C3*30)(H), to implement Official Plan Amendment No. 7.

The effect of the zoning change is to permit commercial use on the subject lands.

The land affected by the proposed zoning by-law amendment is shown on the Key Map as the "LAND TO BE REZONED".

A copy of the complete By-law is available for review at the Municipal Offices during regular office hours.

Around the County Town

by Gord Graham (call 286-6506-- FAX 286-3460)

Would you believe a 20" fish caught in the Gull River? Well, it's true. Jeffe McKelvey, a grade 6 student, caught it last week right by the golf course. Nice going Jeffe.

Are you looking for some great activities for you or the youngsters this summer? Check out Minden's County Town Museum and Pioneer Centre's brochure listing dozens of programmes including soapmaking, quilting, rug hooking, pottery, spinning, stories, musicals, furniture refinishing, etc. etc. There's lots of special classes for the kids too. What is the Pickle, Jam and Jelly Club? For details and information, call Marvella on the Museum's brand new phone. (Yes, they finally installed a telephone). The number is 286-3154. Or, drop by for a visit or call Marvella at home, 489-2973. And, don't forget the strawberry social at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, July 2.....warm biscuits drowned in berries and juice, smothered in cream.....mmmmmmmm.

To make a good speech, have a good beginning and a good ending - and put them as close together as possible.

How about good old fashioned bowling, just for the fun of it? Meet the regulars at the County Bowling Centre in Minden (beside Jug City) every Thursday afternoon at 1:30 pm. It's cool.

Last week's announcement of the Meecham's family reunion left some doubt when a line was squeezed out by accident. After Horseshoe Lake, add "They came from Willowdale, Richmond" and it will make more sense.

Stanhope Seniors Social Club Luncheon will continue during July and August - not as previously reported as being cancelled. The entertainment for July will be the Grandfather's Four.

The Haliburton County Association for Community Living is launching a "Flowers of Hope" campaign to raise money to support local people with a developmental disability. Look for information in your mail.

A Wild Boar Roast is being held on Saturday, July 6 in the Lochlin United Church. Dinner by reservation, so please call 286-2029.

Don't forget St. Paul's Pie Sale this Saturday, July 6 at 9 a.m. in front of the IDA Drug store.

Hyland Crest Auxilliary's annual Flea Market will be held at the Curling Club on Saturday, July 6 and Sunday, July 7 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. This year they are adding a "nearly new" clothing rack. All donations (except shoes) are welcome. Articles may be left at the Hyland Crest auditorium.

A road map is something that tells you everything you need to know except how to fold it up again.

Helen Skelding from the Terrace enjoyed a bus trip through Quebec City, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and to Bangor, Maine recently.

On June 18, six trebles teams from the Minden Indoor Lawn Bowling Club competed in Bobcaygeon in the District 11 Ontario Seniors Games. First place winners were Bruce Armstrong, Lew Tompkins and May Sinclair. They will be going on to compete at Activefest in Richmond Hill in August. Good luck to you. Second place finish by Katie Parker, Eleanor and Darrell Sewell. Third place went to Eleanor Crane, Bill and Barbara Walker. The Club says thanks to Lew Tompkins, Cy Heal and district coordinator, Ross Farr.

St. Paul's Friendship Club euchre results from 1:30 p.m. June 10 were: high score Ellie Langpohl, 50-50 draw Jessie Preston. From June 24: high score Hazel Austin, second high Katie Parker, most lone hands Marie Dennie. They don't meet holiday Mondays.

Club 35 euchre results from 7:30 p.m. June 24: most lone hands and 50-50 draw Mary Reesor; high Alynna Reesor and Bill Cowen; special awards to Verna Sawyer and Bruce Cummings.

Contract Bridge played at Stanhope Library 1 p.m. June 25 was won by: 1st Pearl Foster; 2nd Fred Heald; 3rd Nick Lehoczyk. Starting July 2 (for the summer) meet at Stanhope Firehall - there's lots of room.

Seniors Bid Euchre played at the Minden Legion 1:30 p.m. June 25 gave high scores to Verna McDonald and Grace Dixon; hidden score by Mary Wilson and moonshot by Kay Smith. The prize for not trying was won by Howard Smith.

Euchre played 7:30 p.m. June 26 at the Noble Motel gave high score to Marcel Rousselle, second high to Pat Rousselle and most lone hands to Jean Hachie. Jean finally made it! Way to go Jean.

Winners from euchre played 7:15 p.m. June 20 at the Minden Legion were: Ida Young and Iris Taylor - high score; Truman McNeil and Thelma Francis - low score; Ann Baker and Pat Scadden - most lone hands.

Stanhope Seniors Euchre from last week: Ladies - 1st Betty Matthews, 2nd Jean Scaddon, 3rd Katie Parker; Men - 1st Brian Henderson, 2nd Pat Scaddon, 3rd Wally Thomson; hidden score - Jim Irwin; moonshots: Elsie Henderson, Bill Milford, Edith Burch, Wally Thomson, Brian Henderson, Don Burch and Katie Parker.

There are literally hundreds of people who play cards from time to time and yet they still love to see new faces. Partners are not required at Club 35 and Stanhope Library (now Firehall). Choose your club, enjoy yourself. There's nothing on TV anyway.

Health Corner

The components of fitness are found in four categories: 1: cardiovascular (aerobic) endurance, 2: muscular strength and endurance, 3: flexibility, 4: balance and coordination.

1: Cardiovascular refers to one's ability to perform tasks or exercises which stress the heart (cardio), blood vessels (vascular) and respiratory system continuously for a long period of time. The best system is one that can deliver the highest amount of oxygen per unit of body size. During exercise the demand for oxygen and nutrients, by working muscles, may increase 15-20 times over resting.

More July 15 when I return.

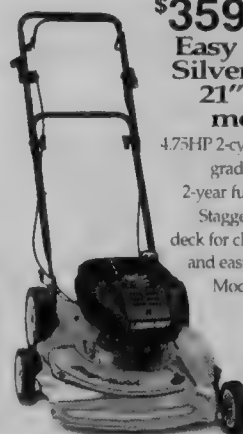

I'm sorry but I'm going to be away this week. Please call The Times direct (286-1288) with your articles for the July 8 issue or drop them off at the office. Please do this by noon Thursday July 4. Articles received by the paper after this time will be held for me for the July 15 issue. Thank you for your cooperation.

CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our family and friends from near and far for coming to share the happy occasion of our 50th Wedding Anniversary. For the good wishes, cards, gifts and flowers. The Ladies Auxiliary of 636 for the delicious goodies and fine service. A special thanks to our family for all they did to make this so memorable. May God bless you all.

Syd and Lois Adamson.

I thank my friends, neighbours and family for sharing my 90th birthday. You overwhelmed me with kind thoughts and wishes. Al Stott.

We would like to express a sincere thank you to our parents, family and friends for making our wedding day so special. We would also like to thank: Ray Downs for catering; Carol Miles for bartending; Paul Wilson for the music; Special Effects for the beautiful decorating; Julie Hartin for the photography; and many others. Thanks a lot, everything was perfect! Rob and I would also like to thank all of the wedding party for doing such a great job. To all the people who came out, thank you so much, the cards and gifts are just beautiful. Thanks,

Tammy and Rob Crowe.
